ANNUAL GOLF TRAVEL PLANNER

Pack Your Bags, Prep Your Game

nce again, we are deep into the 2025 golf season as playing condition are perfect at private club's northeast golf resorts and across vacation destinations in the region. It is a time of year full of majors, northeast golf tour stops and of course all the excitement with the Ryder cup this year at Beth Page in Long Island, NY, captained by New England's own Keegan Bradly, who recently won the Travelers Championship in Hartford.

This issue is our Annual Golf Travel Planner, by far one of our most coveted and widely read issues of the year. In this year's issue we will cover some of the most popular golf travel destinations worldwide and connect you with the people who can make your golf trip a great one. Because of the increased popularity of golf vacations across the globe, many facilities, especially the very best of the best, require more advanced booking and planning to insure you get prime tee times and good hotel choices.

There are some tried and true simple rules for golf travel that we all should follow. Have good quality luggage to protect your gear, and most importantly a very good club travel bag to protect your bag and all the clubs inside, especially your driver, which is the most frequent damaged club by airlines because of the length and flex. Always pack coordinating outfits for your days, be sure to add layers and a good weather protection outfit and good umbrella. The single most important error with golf travelers is golf shoes and socks. Never bring brand new shoes on a golf trip and always bring comfortable well tested extra socks. If your feet are not comfortable your game will suffer for sure.

Plan early, book early and get your group set well ahead of time. Always include a back up player who can jump in on short notice if you lose someone in your group!

BERMUDA BECKONS

Why the Butterfield Bermuda Championship Belongs on Every Golfer's Radar

As the fall golf season approaches and temperatures begin to dip across the Northeast, there's one PGA TOUR event that offers both a world-class golf experience and an unforgettable island escape—the Butterfield Bermuda Championship. Set against the stunning backdrop of Bermuda's turquoise waters and pink-sand beaches, this championship has quickly earned its place as a standout stop on the PGA TOUR, captivating players and fans alike since its debut in 2019.

But this event is more than just a tournament—it's a celebration of community, culture, and the game of golf. Whether you're a seasoned golfer, a travel enthusiast, or someone who just appreciates the finer things in life, the Butterfield Bermuda Championship delivers a unique blend of competition and Island charm.

A Bucket-List Destination with PGA TOUR Prestige

Played at the iconic Port Royal Golf Course, the Butterfield Bermuda Championship is a showcase of scenic beauty and competitive drama. Designed by legendary architect Robert Trent Jones Sr., Port Royal is known for its dramatic ocean views, tight fairways, and the jaw-dropping 16th hole—a 235-yard par 3 that juts out into the Atlantic Ocean, often challenging even the steadiest of nerves. Each year, the tournament draws a strong field of rising stars, seasoned TOUR pros, and international talents, all eager to test their skills in paradise. With FedExCup points, an impending Masters invite and $6.5million dollar purse, the level of play is high-and the stakes even higher. For golf fans, it's the perfect excuse to extend the season and trade the brisk fall air for warm sea breezes.

Just a Short Flight from the Northeast

One of the Butterfield Bermuda Championship's most attractive features for fans in the Northeast is its easy accessibility. Bermuda is only a 90-minute flight from key hubs like New York, Boston, and Philadelphia—closer than many U.S. destinations. There are no long layovers or extensive travel plans needed to experience this tropical escape.

Whether you're looking for a long weekend getaway or a full week of sun and golf, the island's luxury resorts, boutique hotels, and charming guesthouses make it easy to craft the perfect trip. And once you arrive, everything about Bermuda invites relaxation—from pastel-colored homes to world-renowned hospitality.

Beyond the Course: A Cultural & Culinary Gem

While the Butterfield Bermuda Championship may be the main attraction, it's far from the only reason to visit the island. Bermuda is a vibrant destination with a rich history, diverse culture, and one of the most welcoming communities in the world. From exploring the cobblestone streets of St. George's (a UNESCO World Heritage Site) to sipping a Dark 'n Stormy at a beachside bar, every moment here is steeped in island magic.

For food lovers, Bermuda is a culinary revelation. The island blends British, Caribbean, and Portuguese influences into a unique cuisine that celebrates local seafood and seasonal flavors. During tournament week, visitors can experience local fare at one of the many pop-up food vendors, elevated dining experiences, or evening events hosted in Hamilton and throughout the island.

Community-Driven, Globally Inspired

What sets the Butterfield Bermuda Championship apart from many PGA TOUR events is its deep connection to the local community. From volunteer support to charitable giving, the tournament uplifts Bermuda's youth and nonprofits through the Bermuda Championship Charitable Fund. Each year proceeds from the event benefit dozens of local causes—proving that golf can be both competitive and compassionate.

Fans attending the event will also notice a strong sense of island pride throughout the venue—from the colorful branding to local entertainment and small business activations. This is a tournament that feels authentically Bermudian, while still meeting the world-class standards of a PGA TOUR event.

Make It a Tradition

For golf lovers in the Northeast, the Butterfield Bermuda Championship is more than a warm-weather reprieve—it's an opportunity to witness rising stars, walk iconic fairways, and immerse yourself in an island that lives and breathes hospitality. It's a tournament with heart, set in one of the most visually spectacular destinations on Earth. Whether you're chasing birdies or just a better view, Bermuda is calling—and the Butterfield Bermuda Championship is your invitation to answer.

Plan Your Trip:

The 2025 Butterfield Bermuda Championship returns this fall at Port Royal Golf Course, November 13-16.

INSIDER TIPS FOR ATTENDING

The Destination

Just beyond the hustle of Louisville or "Derby City", lie two relaxed but vibrant destinations with a winning trifecta of golf, bourbon and horses. Shelby County proudly claims the title of Saddlehorse Capital of the World, 30 minutes from the Louisville airport and Georgetown is known as the birthplace of bourbon, about 70 minutes from Louisville. Both are steeped in Kentucky charm

The Golf

In Shelby County, Weissinger Hills Golf Course is named for the landowner who built Kentucky's largest barn, first for mules, then dairy cows. Today it serves as the cart barn, clubhouse and pro shop where Bryan Sloan, now in his 22nd season, takes pride in the course's renovations and loyal patronage.

The focal point of the course, visible from most holes, is a water tower painted with horse riders on the massive round top, like a carnival's carousel. Tight fairways and unforgiving rough make for a challenging round in the pastoral setting with rustling trees and birds singing to the cadence of cicadas. One fairway borders a hay field, no doubt for horses and with our "Butthead" horse headcover along for the ride, we embraced its cheeky tagline: Kick up your heels and have nothing "butt" fun.

In Simpsonville, the University of Louisville Golf Club offers an exclusive experience- either by knowing a member or by investing in one of the few remaining memberships. Home to the Cardinals, with immaculate conditions, a top-tier layout and many Championships, the fierce Cardinal logo is everywhere, while real life cardinals are whistling Dixie.

Clear Creek Golf Center is a well-run gem by Derrick Griffitts, PGA Pro and director of Shelby County Parks and Rec. This fun nine-hole track features six tees on a first-come first-serve basis, plus a full practice facility, simulator and lessons.

In Georgetown, Cherry Blossom Golf and Country Club has well-conditioned fairways with scenic landscaping and waterways including signature number 12, with a fountain and peninsula green.

Canewood Golf Course, designed by Danny McQueen runs through Canewood Community, where the HOA covers membership and homes act as galleries. It's a casual tree lined golf stroll, edging the bank of Elkhorn Creek. Joe Davis moved from Indiana for the PGA director position in the colonial brick clubhouse.

The Bourbon

Shelby County's most famous bourbon is Bulleit. Their dynamic distillery tour concludes with an immersive tasting of four bourbons complete with sound, lighting effects and aromatic comparisons. Nearby Jeptha Creed is a family-run operation born from a fifth-generation farming dad's vision with a chemist mom at the helm and their daughter's marketing flair. From ground to glass, everything's grown on-site. It's all in the family for patrons as well with lawn games and concerts, like the Bacon Brothers, delayed due to Kevin's new film role. Stay tuned for two more distilleries in Shelby's secret development.

Georgetown salutes Elija Craig, the traveling Baptist minister who "saw the light" and charred his barrels to produce the first bourbon. A commemorative private barrel, dubbed Genesis, was picked for special bottling and sold out in two hours as local afficionados lined up to taste and buy a piece of history. Whether legacy or innovation, the Kentucky bourbon trail is a spirited blend of flavors and fun.

The Horses

Shelby County offers numerous horse farms to tour and many more to admire in passing. One standout is Léttleiki Icelandics, home to 90 horses, affectionately called "Fabios" for their flowing manes. After glimpsing them in Iceland, a close encounter was a must. This sturdy, gentle breed is known for their extra gaits including the smooth "tölt" and kind temperament. Foals are born in June and raised within the herd, untouched by humans for three years to foster natural development. Visitors can observe, pet, trail ride or train at Léttleiki.

Horse Sensing is a Saddlebred equine therapy farm. Sally, the owner, is a decorated show rider with a broken elbow from falling off 17 hands high Luke. It happens. Brady has a gift for connecting with, training and showing horses, while Chris is the education director for the men in the program. Together they help addiction recoveries and veterans with PTSD rebuild confidence and develop horse groom skills. On our visit, 12-day-old Charm was wide-eyed and wobbly, capturing every heart beside his mother Misty.

In Georgetown, Kentucky Horse Park is like a Sea World for horses, with live breeds, shows and a museum honoring horse history. Former Director John Wilkerson now serves as President and CEO of Old Friends Thoroughbred Retirement Home, a serene haven for racing's legends, founded by Michael Blowen, once the Siskel and Ebert of the Boston Globe. The film critic and his wife Diane White, a renowned Boston Globe columnist and former Golf Digest editor, live among the noble athletes, including 31- yearold Silver Charm. Horses graze and romp in wide paddocks, showered with love and carrots from devoted staff and visitors.

Stay and Dine

In Shelbyville, the three-month new Candlewood Suites offers views of the golf course and carousel tower. Dine at Claudia Sanders Dinner House (of KFC Colonel fame), The Paddock, The Bell House, or many other restaurants around the historic town.

In Georgetown, the one-year new TownePlace Suites by Marriott includes breakfast, an indoor pool, and a patio firepit for gathering. Choose from two breweries, the nostalgic Fava's 1910 Diner on Main Street or the exquisite Rodney's on Broadway.

Our Takeaway

Kentucky blew us away with their winning trifecta of golf, horses and bourbon, plus an impressive culinary scene. Everyone we met felt like someone we'd love to have as a neighbors or friend. It's easy to see why so many are relocating there.

The Journey

Louisville International Airport is one of the most efficient with the fastest golf club delivery upon arrival. Bright themed murals set the stage for a fun vacation. Lexington is an alternative airport and a drive from anywhere is like a Hallmark movie with miles of horse farms and bluegrass blooming in the spring. ShelbyKY Tourism www.georgetownky.com

Mohagan Sun Golf Club Rolling Greens, Fast Putts and Gourmet Bites

BY MYLES MURRAY

FROM TEE

The Mohegan Sun Golf Club can be found in the rolling farmlands of Eastern Connecticut in the town of Baltic. It offers a good challenge, scenery, and high-end amenities. The price tag is steep but for everything included it is worth it. A great practice facility will get you ready for your round and then the course delivers a layout that includes a little bit or everything to keep you challenged.

The 18-hole layout has benefited from recent renovations that elevate it to a course you need to play if you are in the area. The fairways are well-maintained and forgiving without feeling too soft, and are wide enough to allow for recovery from errant tee shots. The sand in the bunkers is bright white and is the softest I have ever played out of in New England.

The most fun, interesting, and frustrating part of the course is the greens. Most have front to back slopes and are very fast. A few have large mounds and tiers that make it a real challenge to avoid 3-putting. The 6th, 7th, and 8th are a trio of greens that can ruin your scorecard in a heartbeat. You must be accurate with your approach shots and pay attention to pin placements. If you are on the wrong tier or putting downhill then it will be tough to make par, as I learned the hard way.

Aside from the challenge of the greens the course is laid out in a way that even a high-handicapper can have success. I played with a buddy who is a 17, and after beating him on the front he beat me by two strokes on the back. There are doglegs and some elevation changes. The hardest hole for me is #6 which has an elevated tee plus a sharp dog leg to the right. The landing zone straight ahead is large but it leaves you with a 200+ shot uphill to the green. If you try to cut the corner then you have a narrower landing area that is running downhill towards a pond. From here you can reach the green in two, but it is elevated and is shaped like a tiered bowl with funky breaks. I hit it long, then had a severe downhill putt that broke about 10 feet. I ended up with a bogey.

COURSES & CLUBS

Off the course, Mohegan Sun impresses with its amenities. The carts are comfortable and feature GPS tracking so you don't have to worry about a range finder. The putting green is large and overlooks the 18th green. The complimentary driving range has both artificial mats and grass and maxes out at 200 yards, while the short game practice area allows players to fine-tune their touch and also hit out of a bunker. The pro shop is stocked with gear and equipment in case you forget something or want a souvenir.

TO TABLE

Located in the clubhouse is the Greenside Grille & Pub which is a full service restaurant for players and the public. The Greenside's menu is packed with pub favorites and it has a full bar with all the regular drinks. I started my round with a breakfast sandwich on a warm, flaky biscuit while my buddy got a breakfast burrito. The pub motto is 'Links and Drinks' so after the round we stayed to honor that tradition.

For lunch or dinner you can choose from the menu of appetizers, salads, sandwiches, burgers, or entrees like their fish and chips. The robust salads can be starters or you can add chicken or steak to make them meals. The starters include wings, egg rolls, and soups.

We were lucky enough to be there for the daily special which was buffalo chicken quesadillas. The chicken was crispy with just enough sauce and the cheese was melty and pulling apart as I dipped it into my side of blue cheese. There is a wide variety of choices in the sandwiches and burgers so you will find something you like or something new to try. I had the reuben which was piled high with hot pastrami with all the toppings and on nicely toasted rye bread.

The showstopper as the onion rings on the side. They are handmade and have a crispy breading, soft onion, and no grease... chef's kiss emoji. My buddy had the French Dip with thin shaved hot prime rib, swiss, and steaming au jus on the side. He gave it a 10/10 and another chef's kiss, but he had the fries, not onion rings, and said they were just as crispy and delicious.

If you get hungry on the course then you can stop at the TTT food shack conveniently located in the middle of the course near holes 9, 14, and 17. We stopped here several times to grab complimentary water bottles and a few adult beverages. The menu is the same as the Greenside so you can eat your lunch during your round in your cart or at the picnic tables nearby. Grab a bite during your round or sit down after 18 - either way, the food holds its own and rounds out the day perfectly.

GOLF GRIPS THE MOST OVERLOOKED GEAR IN GOLF

Most amateur golfers have no issue spending $600.00 for a new driver, $300.00 + for a new putter, or even more for new irons and wedges. It is almost ironic, that most ignore the single most important aspect in the game of golf, your golf grip. The golf grip's primary function is to establish a secure and comfortable connection between the golfer's hands and the golf club. This allows the golfer to maintain control of the club head throughout the swing. The secure connection to the golf club can diminish with worn-out grips and those that are ill-fitted to the individual player. An optimal grip enhances a golfer's ability to swing the club at their highest rate of speed while still maintaining control of the club face

Bob Lamkin, CEO of Lamkin Grips has noted, "whether your clubs are new or old, the grip for over 90% of all amateur golfers, is not correctly fitted, is excessively worn, or even sized incorrectly. If you're reading this and haven't yet measured your hand for the proper grip size, or been fitted by a professional, then chances are very high that you`re using the wrong size grip... and it`s probably costing you about five strokes, every round you play".

Selecting your golf grips is like picking out your next car. The look is likely the first thing that catches your attention. Grips come in many colors today, so if you want to personalize your grip with your favorite college football team colors, that option is available to you. The personal feel and comfort of the grip in your hands is always the player's choice. The texture and relative softness of the grip will push some golfers to a softer feel like the Tour Wrap grip, while others want a firm grip material like the Tour Velvet Cord. Weather condition is also a factor, especially if you play most of your golf in wet weather. Some grips perform better with a little moisture, and others will fly right out of your hands the minute it starts to rain. There is no right or wrong on this one, just a player preference. But proper fit is the key, no matter what choice you make ascetically, correct fit is coessential.

In 2009, Jumbo Max Oversized Grips were created to help golfers improve their performance by creating golf grips with ergonomically correct sizing. It has helped golfers with hand issues and grip issues play better golf with less pain more comfortably. Bryson DeChambeau has made the oversize Jumbo Max name well recognized amongst all golfers worldwide with his custom Jumbo Max Tour Series XL Model. John Mazzanoble, President of Jumbo Max noted recently, "In 2010, Bryson DeChambeau's coach, Mike Schy, tested the grips, put them on Bryson's clubs, and soon after, Bryson shot two 59s. The rest is history, Jumbo Max has gone from niche to necessity and is trusted by major champions, long-drive bombers, and weekend warriors alike. We're not here to do what every other grip company does. We're here to help golfers play their best, and we're just getting started. Our grips are used by PGA Tour winners, long-drive champions, elite juniors, and collegiate players, but many of our customers are regular golfers, players who want to hit longer, straighter shots while reducing hand strain and discomfort. More than 99% of golfers have never been properly fit for grips. It's not their fault, there's never been a company capable of doing it, until now". We've built an iOS grip fitting app that analyzes 200+ data points, including hand size, grip pressure, and ball flight—to find the perfect fit. A web version is available for non-iOS users, and in 2025, we're launching an in-person fitting system to make grip selection even easier".

With the completion of the project this July, Owl's Nest Resort now offers 36 Holes of premier golf with the famed Nicklaus Design Course and the new Owl's Nest Vineyard Course.
