Ave Maria
A BIG KIND OF SMALL TOWN®

LIFE WITH A SMILE ON

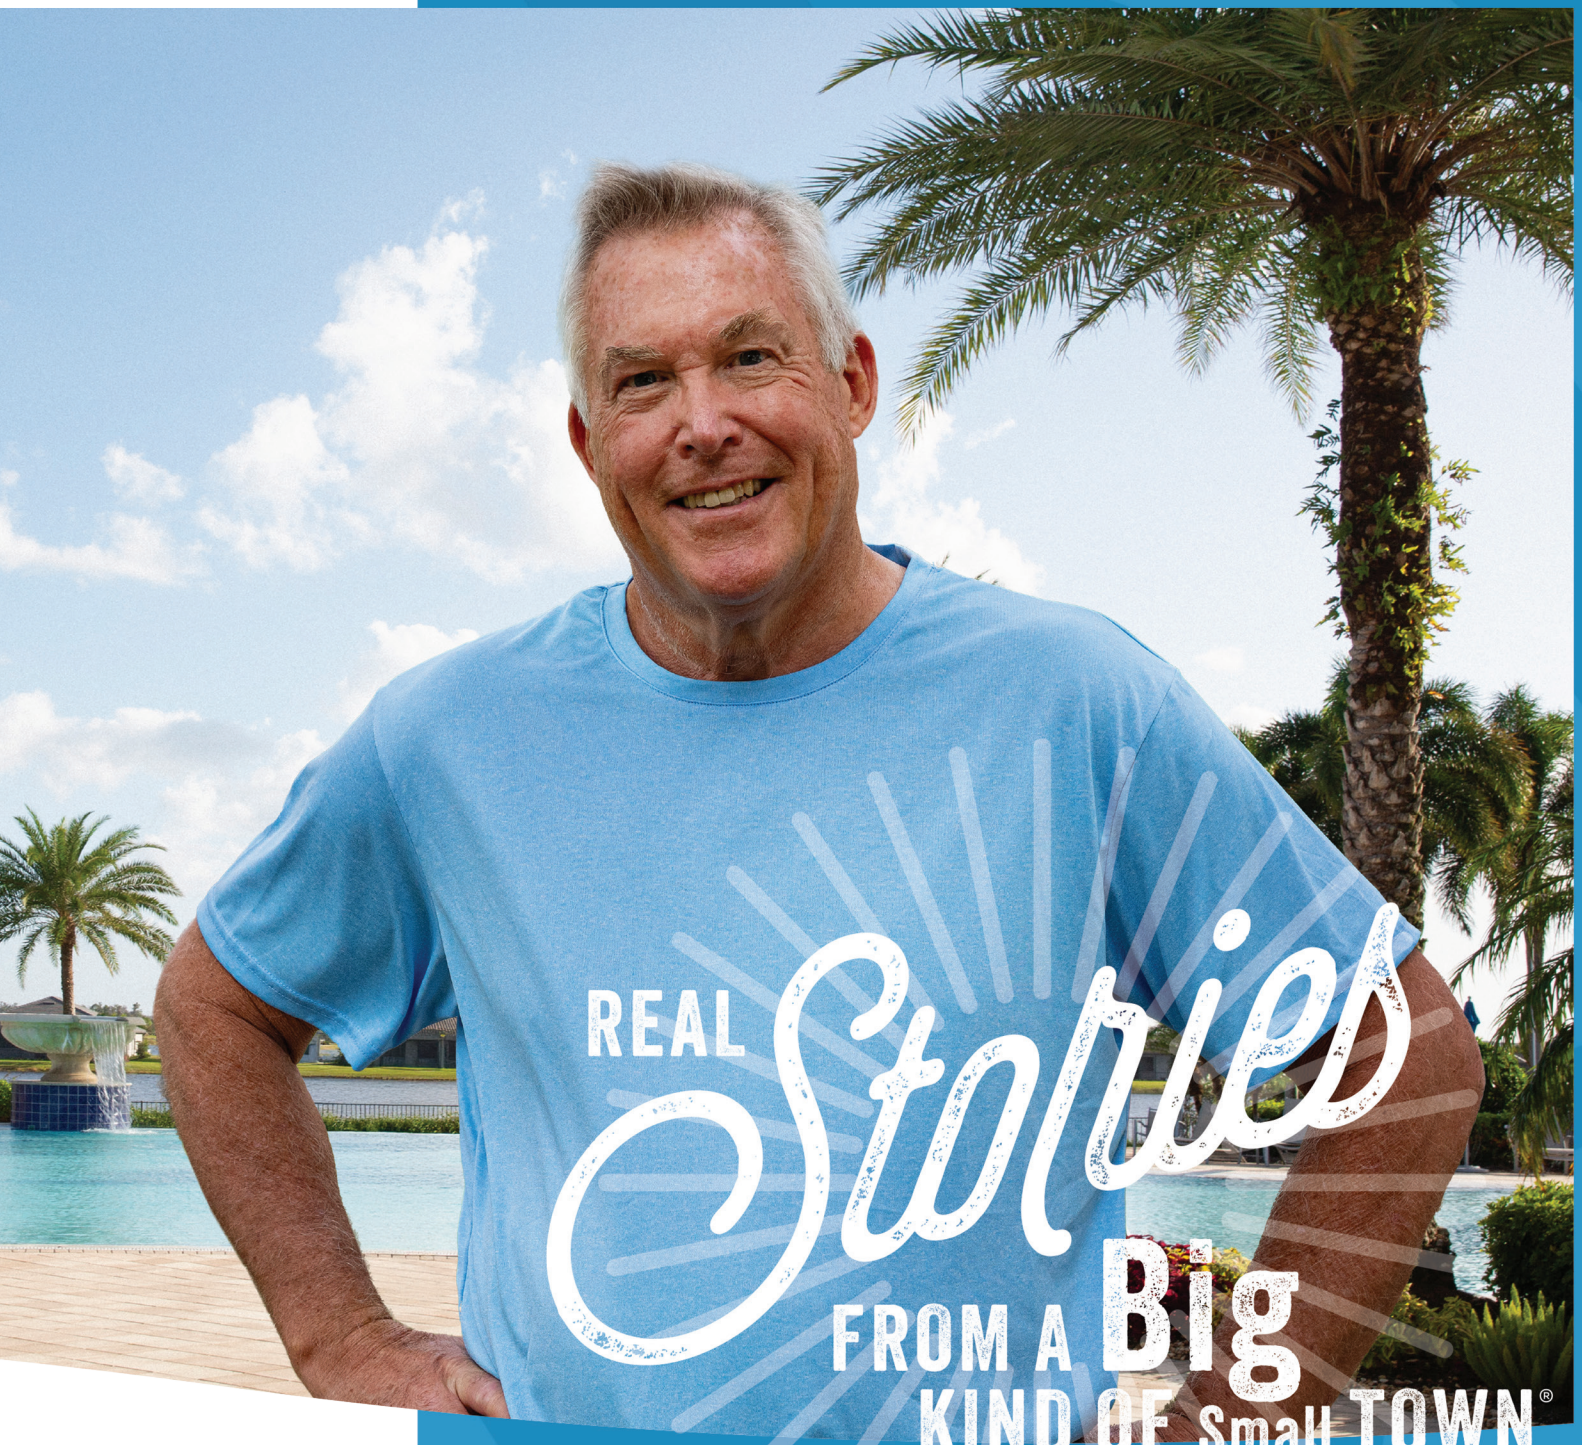

A few years ago, Jim's brother brought him to Ave Maria to play golf at Panther Run. "I was looking for a small town," he says, "and the people are awesome. I only golf every couple of months, but I did have a hole-in-one once. They gave me a year's supply of balls. I told them I lose so many, it would be cheaper to give me a car." Jim enjoys singing karaoke at the Oil Well Brewery, and he's a runner. "I'm known as the jogger with a smile on my face," he says. "A neighbor asked me why I was smiling all the time. I said, because we live in paradise."

You should know before you visit that smiling is contagious in Ave Maria—A Big Kind of Small Town®.

DISCOVER THE LIFESTYLE of ASTOR CREEK

Astor Creek Golf & Country Club redefines the Florida golf lifestyle with a championship course, elegant estate homes, and full membership included.

Florida's Treasure Coast has long been a magnet for golfers in search of sunshine, fairways, and seaside charm. From winter snowbirds escaping the Northeast chill to retirees seeking year-round play, the region's mix of coastal beauty and accessible golf has made it a prime destination. But today, there's a new name on the map that's raising the bar: Astor Creek Golf & Country Club.

Set in Port St. Lucie, Astor Creek isn't just the latest golf course community on the Treasure Coast — it's the first to be built here in decades. And it delivers more than a round of golf. With a championship 18-hole course, an upcoming 25,000-square-foot clubhouse, and luxury estate homes that include full membership, Astor Creek is carving out its place as the next must-visit — and must-live - destination in Florida golf.

A Championship Course Worth the Trip

At the heart of Astor Creek is its 18-hole championship golf course, a design by Chris Wilczynski that both excites seasoned players and welcomes newer ones. Rolling fairways, pristine greens, five-tee layout, and strategic bunkering create a course that's visually stunning and technically rewarding. It's the kind of layout that keeps you coming back — each round familiar yet freshly challenging.

Practice facilities rival those at private clubs across the country. Golfers can sharpen their skills on a 15-acre grass driving range, 15,000-square-foot putting green, and three-acre short game complex. For those serious about their game, it's like having a golf academy in your backyard. And with a well-stocked pro shop and seasoned golf staff, Astor Creek ensures every detail of the golf experience is first-class.

What makes it even more enticing is the value proposition: for a limited time, a full golf membership is included with every home purchase. At many Florida clubs, buy-ins can run into the six figures. At Astor Creek, it's part of the package - making it one of the most accessible yet prestigious golf memberships on the Treasure Coast.

Homes That Redefine Estate Living

But Astor Creek isn't only about the game - it's about coming home to a residence that reflects modern luxury, thoughtful design, and timeless quality. Estate homes by Kolter Homes feature contemporary architecture, open floorplans, high ceilings, and expansive outdoor living areas perfect for entertaining or soaking up Florida sunsets. Each residence is crafted with meticulous detail, from chef-inspired kitchens with premium finishes to spacious owner's suites and spa-style bathrooms. Options at the Kolter Homes Design Studio allow buyers to personalize every detail, ensuring their new home is as unique as their lifestyle. And with Taylor Morrison now joining the community as a second builder, Astor Creek offers an even wider array of designs and floorplans, ranging from two to six bedrooms.

The Astor Creek Clubhouse

Every great destination has a gathering place. At Astor Creek, the newly opened clubhouse offers 25,000-square-feet of social and fitness spaces. Elevated above the landscape with panoramic views of the course, the clubhouse is designed as a social and recreational hub.

Inside, residents will find a full-service restaurant and bar, a billiards lounge, and a coffee bar for mornings with neighbors. Fitness takes center stage with a state-of-the-art gym powered by EGYM technology, offering personalized workouts and group classes. Overlooked by the outdoor dining area, a resort-style pool with cabanas and lap lanes invites residents to relax in style.

From casual meetups to elegant dining, the clubhouse is the new centerpiece for community life — a place where residents and their guests can gather, celebrate, and connect.

Beyond Golf: A Lifestyle Destination

While golf is the star, Astor Creek's lifestyle extends far beyond the fairways. The community offers resident-only pickleball and tennis courts, basketball, bocce, and wide walkways. A dedicated lifestyle director curates events, fitness classes, and social gatherings, ensuring there's always something to do. There's also an outdoor event lawn for concerts and shows.

For those who love to explore, Astor Creek's location in Port St. Lucie offers easy access to the Treasure Coast's beaches, marinas, and cultural events. Residents can enjoy a day of fishing or boating, sample the local restaurant scene, or attend one of the area's many festivals. With nearby Tradition Square and quick access to I-95, the best of Florida is always within reach.

The Treasure Coast Advantage

Unlike South Florida's crowded fairways and congested roads, the Treasure Coast offers a more relaxed and authentic coastal lifestyle. Here, blue skies, palm-lined streets, and a slower pace create an inviting backdrop for golf and community life. And yet, world-class shopping, dining, and entertainment are within easy driving distance.

Port St. Lucie itself has been ranked one of the fastest-growing and safest cities in Florida, attracting buyers from across the country with its mix of affordability, natural beauty, and modern amenities. Astor Creek adds something new to that mix: a true luxury golf destination that blends resort-style living with residential comfort.

A Place to Visit. A Place to Stay.

For readers of Northeast Golf, Astor Creek offers two compelling invitations. For the traveler, it's a new golf destination worth adding to the Florida itinerary — a course to play, a community to experience, a clubhouse to anticipate. For the homebuyer, it's a chance to make the trip permanent, to claim a piece of the Treasure Coast lifestyle where golf isn't just a pastime, it's part of everyday life.

In Astor Creek, developer and builder Kolter Homes has unveiled something rare: a community that's both a destination to discover and a home to cherish. Whether you're teeing off for the first time or toasting the sunset after a round, it's clear — this is golf living, elevated.

Welcome to the Club That Outpaces Expectations

Boca Raton, Florida — Even as one of the world's top-ranked private clubs, Boca West Country Club is never content to stand still. From the most thoughtful details to the most memorable experiences, this private Boca Raton destination is continually asking: How can we make it even better?

It all starts on the fairways—immediately available to Members with no waitlist required. Boca West boasts four championship courses designed by legendary names in golf, with one soon to be reimagined by the Fry/Straka Design team. Beyond play, Members enjoy every tool imaginable to refine their game: a four-acre short game area, a 50-tee practice facility, and the nation's first private club driving range powered by Inrange® radar tracking.

The Club is also adding a 9-hole short course and 18-hole putting course as part of its current Capital Improvement Plan. The Golf & Activities Center, one of three Clubhouses, is also being transformed with larger card rooms, a lively new bar and lounge, upgraded locker rooms, a refreshed pro shop, and modern interiors.

A World of Passions, All in One Place

Golf is just the beginning. Often called a "cruise ship on land," Boca West's expansive campus caters to the wide-ranging passions of its Members—from culinary and cultural experiences to fitness and fashion.

This summer, the number of pickleball courts increased from 14 to 25, while 24 tennis courts were resurfaced to tournament-ready standards. And coming this November, a new Pickleball Complex will debut, featuring a shaded stadium court, private locker rooms, a covered terrace lounge, and a dedicated pro shop—setting a new standard for the fastest-growing sport in America.

Last year's debut of the Lifestyle & Racquet Center elevated the Boca West experience with a five-pool Aquatics Center, new dining venues (bringing the total to eight), and a 72,000-square-foot Fitness Center.

The expansion also introduced a family game lounge, an Art and Epicurean Studio, and Market Square—a gourmet grab-and-go destination offering curated selections, fresh coffee, and house-made specialties.

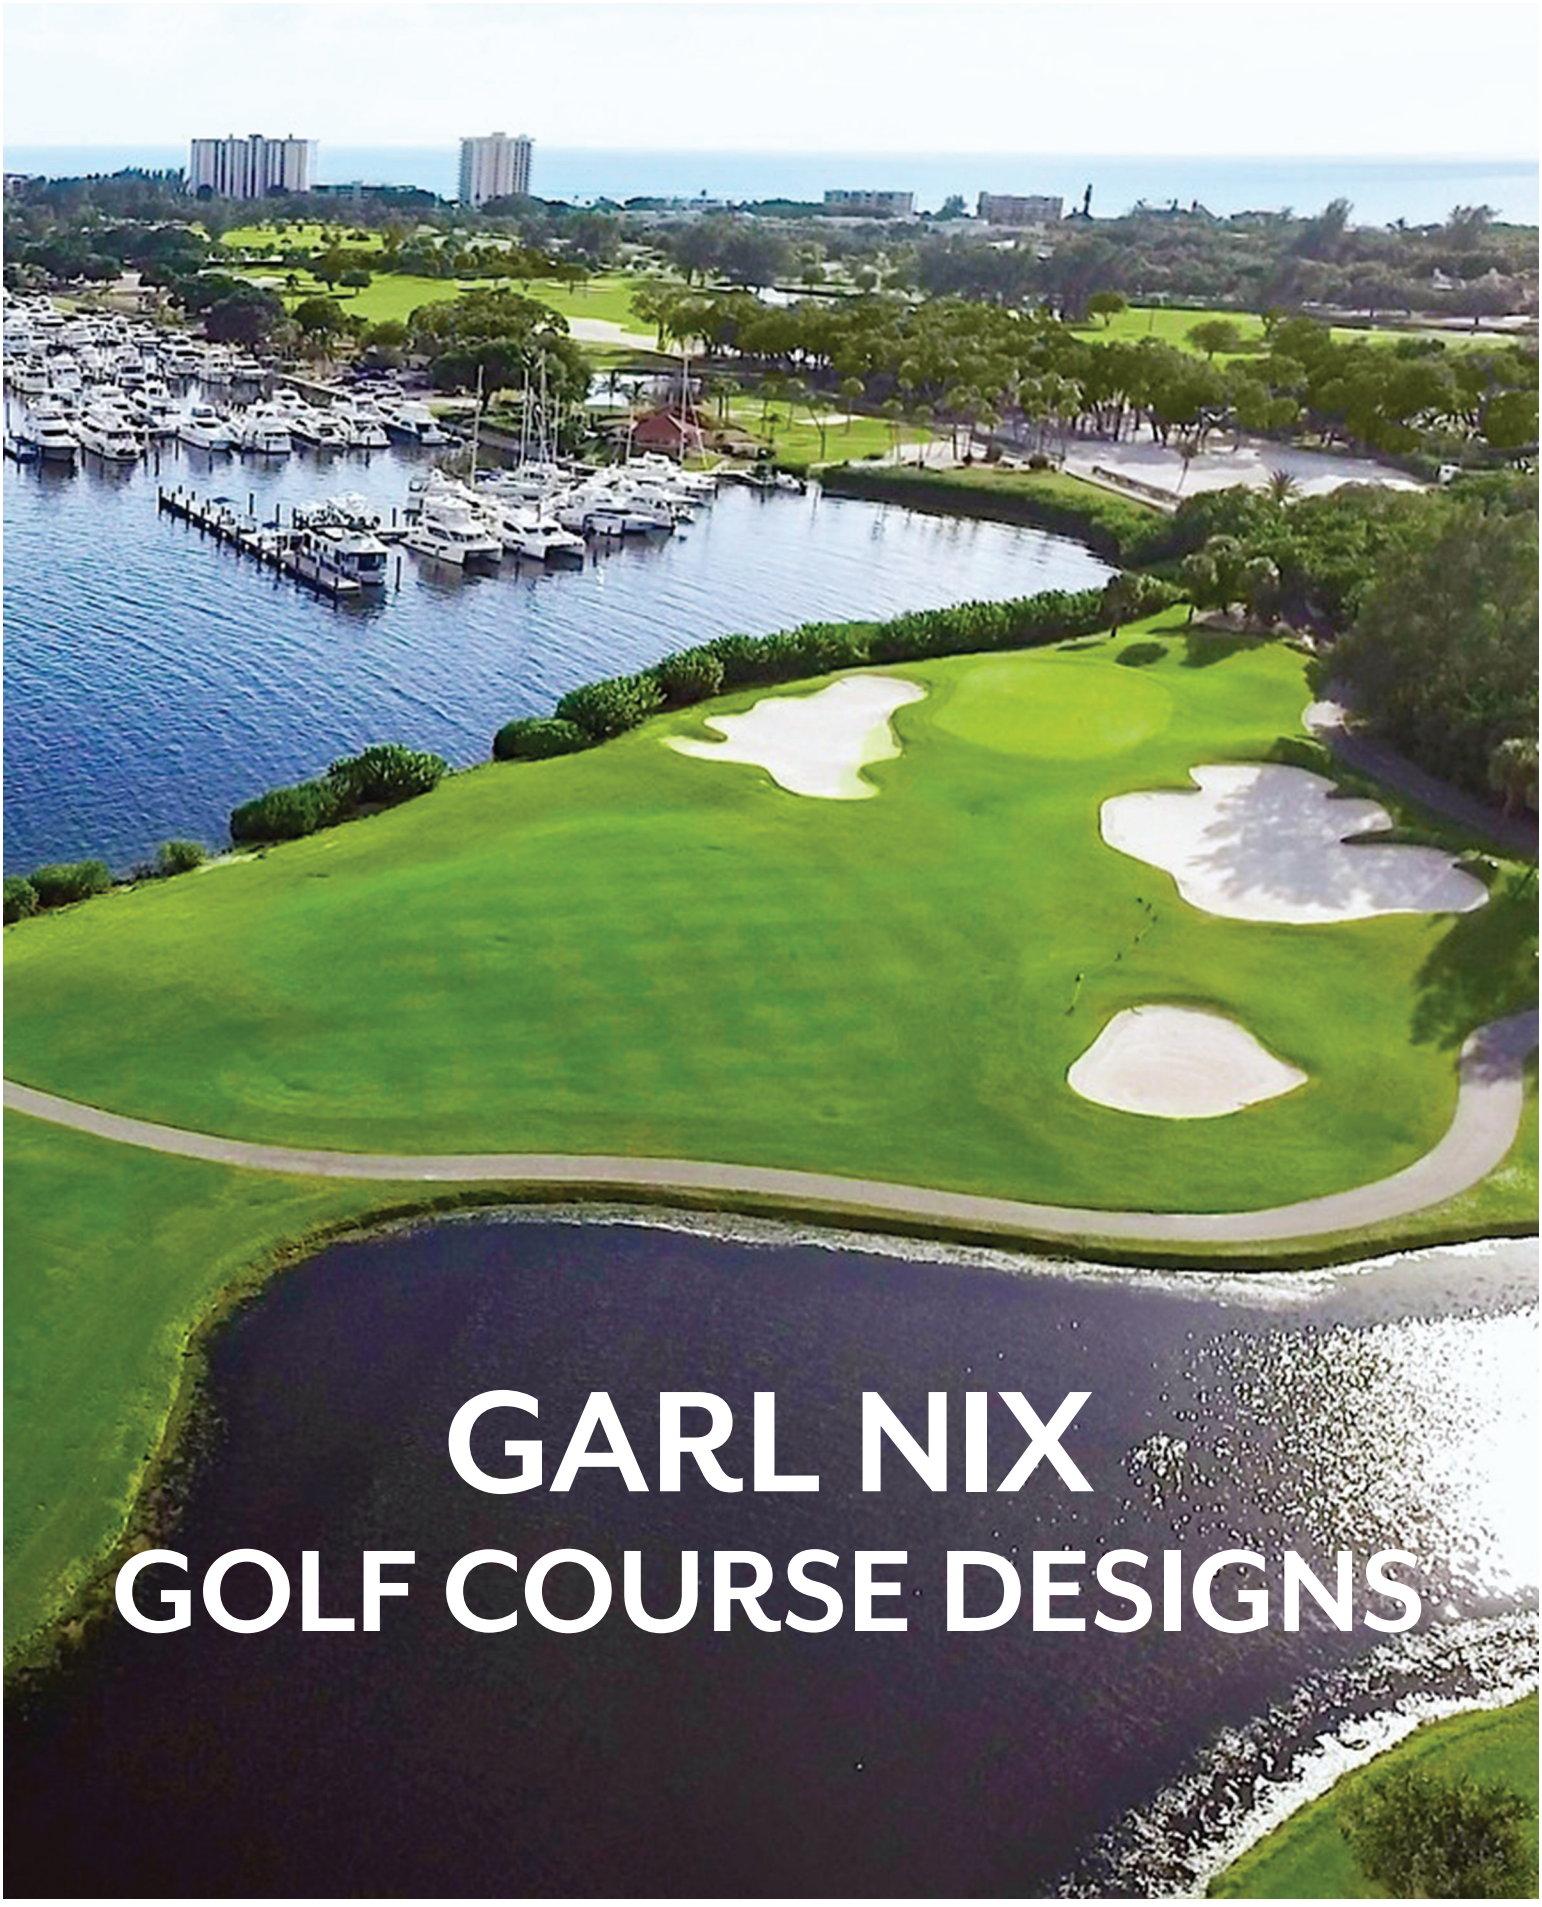

For those on the move, private jet services provide effortless access to the Club. Closer to home, the on-site spa—modeled after the world's finest resorts—offers 23 treatment rooms, Roman-style pools, sensory showers, and indulgent therapies.

The Energy Never Slows

Take a breath—that's a lot to take in. And yet, there's still more. With more than 600 events each year, Boca West Country Club's social calendar is as vibrant as the community it serves. Every occasion is crafted with meticulous attention to detail, from St. Barths-inspired evenings of music and dancing to culinary experiences influenced by Michelin-starred chefs from around the world. It's clear that Members always have something new to enjoy—and to love—at Boca West Country Club.

Boca West's 55 private villages are renowned for their effortless lock-and-leave convenience, with year-round maintenance overseen by both the residential villages and the Boca West Master Association. GARL NIX GOLF COURSE DESIGNS

No two golf courses are alike; each one is an expression of creative vision, shaped to create its own identity and appeal. Golf courses—and the architects behind them—are measured by the experiences they deliver, playability, sustainability, and the memories golfers carry with them. At Garl Nix Golf Design, their philosophy is rooted in minimalism, allowing the natural landforms and topography to guide routing and layout while producing unique and enjoyable golf courses. This approach has been their guiding mantra for decades.

A Legacy of Design Excellence

Garl Nix Golf Design represents the evolution of a long-standing tradition in golf course architecture. Founded in 1972 by Ron Garl, the firm was born out of a deep passion for the game and a relentless pursuit of excellence. Early in his career, Ron apprenticed under the legendary Robert Trent Jones and Joe Lee, where he absorbed the classic principles and innovative strategies that would define his design philosophy. This mentorship set the stage for Ron to become one of the world's most respected golf course architects.

A Seasoned Team

Soon after, Ron's nephew, Ricky Nix, joined the firm. Today, as Ron's partner, Ricky brings his own creative vision while continuing the legacy of innovation established by his uncle. Together, Ron and Ricky offer over 85 years of combined experience, blending timeless design with modern best practices to deliver projects that endure.

Global Experience, Local Expertise

Few living architects can claim a portfolio as extensive as Ron Garl and Ricky Nix. Having designed courses on nearly every continent, they have encountered and solved a wide range of challenges. From coral rock in the Bahamas to mountainous terrain in Asia, to desert and oceanfront sites, their team has designed successful courses in every environment. The team's international experience gives them the unique ability to anticipate and solve challenges while celebrating each site's natural features, history, and environment.

Designing for Golfers, Not Just Courses

They believe golf should be challenging yet enjoyable, encouraging improvement without punishing players. Their designs emphasize strategy, variety, and aesthetics, while also recognizing the importance of construction efficiency, long-term maintenance, and profitability. Whether creating championship venues or state-of-the-art practice facilities, their goal is always the same: to deliver golf courses that succeed both on and off the course.

LEGENDS GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

The Reimagining of a Masterpiece

Southwest Florida is home to some of the most exquisite private golf course communities along the Gulf Coast. In Ft Myers, Florida, Legends Golf & Country Club has stood out for over 25 years as one of the finest members-owned facilities in the region with 21 pristine neighborhoods and 1291 homes and condominiums. Legends Club is conveniently located in the Daniels Parkway Corridor, which has emerged as Ft Myers new "Main Street," a booming region with treasured country clubs, numerous new master planned communities, and convenient access to Sanibel, Captiva, Gulf beaches, downtown Fort Myers, I-75 and Southwest Florida International Airport (RSW). It is an epicenter of shopping, dining, outdoor activities and home to the Boston Red Sox's spring training stadium.

Legends Golf Course was designed by Joe Lee and opened in early 1999. The golf course was renovated in 2010 by Kipp Schulties and is currently under renovation by Garl & Nix Architects. Legends offers a par 72, 18-hole Private Championship Course that is challenging yet relaxing for golfers of all skill levels. The fairways are spacious and forgiving with mounding around the generous-sized greens.

Lakes, ponds and creeks set picturesque scenes around 14 of the Legends holes. The Garl and Nix Architects team is reimagining the layout, design, and doing full updates to the entire golf course. It is expected to be nothing short of spectacular and will reopen in December 2025.

Legends Golf & Country Club is member owned and one of the finest clubs in the Southwest Florida area offering golf, fitness, tennis, bocce, pickleball and FOUR dining venues for members and their guests to enjoy. Legends is a private, gated, "bundled community" which means that your membership type depends on which of the 1291 homes you purchase. When you purchase your property, you become a member of 1 of 21 neighborhood homeowner/condominium associations, in addition to the Master Association. There are two types of Master Association memberships which are a Social and Golf, or a solely Social Membership.

In 2017 and 2021 the Master Board approved two renovations enhancing the Clubhouse look and expanding it to include four dining venues known as the formal dining room, pub, a state-of-the-art Sunset Grill, and the Legends Café. The latest renovation at Legends is their award-winning Sunset Grill — top ranked patios in 2021 in the United States by Club & Resort Business. The Grill features both covered and open-air seating, a two-sided bar to accommodate pool and dining members, and, as its name suggests, magnificent views of sunsets over the 10th fairway and the aqua range. The Sunset Grill boasts a dedicated kitchen and a unique menu, providing members with an additional dining venue as an alternative to the main dining room and pub. Originally there were 6 Har-Tru lighted courts constructed for the tennis enthusiast with the addition of court #7 in September 2013. New tennis court LED lights were installed as well as four pickleball courts with LED lights installed in 2018.

Legends Bocce Courts are a favorite. There are four courts for league and social play with a covered sitting area in between. In addition, fitness, aquatics and social activities are also an important part of living the Legends lifestyle. The fitness center encompasses rejuvenation and healthy living, while the tranquility of the poolside waterfall makes relaxing a breeze. This Fort Myers golf and country club community offers some of the best amenities in the region, from a resort-style swimming pool to a championship golf course. Stretching about 650 acres, the gated community dedicates more than 200 acres just to conservation land with room for lakes, tropical plants and trees, plus native wildlife. Legends is conveniently located minutes away from the RSW, easy access to Gulf beaches, fishing, regional hospitals, shopping, and entertainment.

About Legends Golf & Country Club

ARNOLD PALMER'S
BAY HILL CLUB & LODGE

A renovated Lodge and renewed experience await at this timeless golf getaway

As rich in natural beauty as it is in golf lore, a renewed Bay Hill Club & Lodge offers the chance to walk in the footsteps of legends while enjoying top modern hospitality—exactly as Arnie intended.

In Arnold Palmer's own words, "The whole idea behind Bay Hill was to create a special low-key place where both the members and guests would be made to feel comfortable and welcome." That holds true for the business groups, friends and families who visit Bay Hill each year, and for the best golfers in the world, who annually honor Palmer's "play boldly" legacy by competing in the Arnold Palmer Invitational presented by Mastercard, a PGA TOUR Signature Event.

Bay Hill has hosted the tournament since 1979, but you don't need to be a world Top 10 to be treated like a pro here. Whether you're a member of the private club or a Lodge guest, all visitors to Bay Hill receive the same excellent, unpretentious hospitality and enjoy the same amenities.

Today, that includes newly renovated Lodge rooms and a reimagined Bay Window restaurant, among other improvements. Many of the refreshed rooms and suites are tastefully decorated with Palmer photos and memorabilia, sure to inspire guests. There are newly appointed king and dual queen rooms, suites and junior suites, and six waterside guest cottages to accommodate groups of businessmen, friends, families or anyone who likes the conveniences of a home away from home. Easily accessed via Orlando's international airport, and near to some of the world's best theme parks, Bay Hill remains, as Palmer put it, "an oasis of calm in the midst of it all." That's largely thanks to the staff, who work to ensure that guests' time here is as memorable and as comfortable as possible, just as Palmer expected.

However you spend your time at Bay Hill—in one of our meeting or conference rooms; on our Championship and Charger golf courses; on our world-class practice facility; at the fitness center or pool; playing pickleball or tennis; or on the lakes, enjoying watersports or a day cruise from our marina—you can end the day with a drink in our contemporary men's locker room, with a meal at one of our on-site restaurants or with a cocktail in our members lounge. (Hint: Try Mr. Palmer's favorite after-dinner drink, the Bay Hill Hummer.) Whether you're a casual player or a touring pro, a first time-visitor or a regular guest, you'll be welcomed at Bay Hill. Mr. Palmer wouldn't have it any other way.

HOTELS & RESORTS

St. Kitts
Nevis Four Seasons

BY DANNY AND ALICE SCOTT

FOUR SEASONS RESORT NEVIS is a five-star tropical paradise offering luxury residences through Citizenship by Investment (CBI), so you can live where you play; golf and snorkel every day. St. Kitts/Nevis was the first nation in the world to launch a CBI program in 1984. We first heard about it while playing in The Admiral Cup in 2013 with then Senator and Minister of Tourism, Ricky Skerritt. CBI intrigued us then, and today, the Four Seasons Private Residences Nevis program makes it even more appealing with full access to all resort amenities. The Residences are offered by Sotheby's and according to CEO Neil Payne, while 70% of buyers are drawn by the CBI opportunity, 100% ultimately purchase for the unmatched sense of peace and security on Nevis. We can attest to that sense.

The Destination

Located in the West Indies, the twin island federation of St Kitts and Nevis is as vibrant as its national flower and tree, both named Flamboyant. Lush green hills, pastel-colored homes and white waves lapping the shore excite during landing at the St. Kitts Airport. Upon arrival, friendly, uniformed Four Seasons representatives whisk away luggage and guests for a quick, scenic ferry ride to Nevis. En route, they point out Sundance Ridge, topped with a stately home purchased by Robert Redford in 1978. May he rest in peace.

The Culture

Nevisians are warm and charming, showing equal care for guests and one another. This spirit shines through in everyone, from drivers and tour guides to bartenders, and fellow restaurant patrons. Everyone has a story to share, and an ear to lend.

Nevis is not where people come to be seen, and many well-known figures visit for exactly that reason: peace. That is why Princess Diana frequently visited with her young sons. Since 1991, Four Seasons Nevis, West Indies has kept an authentic beach vibe that high rise hotels simply cannot deliver. It rests serenely on two miles of Pinney's Beach for strolling or jogging on the soft tan sand. Laze the day away in a Caribbean Sea daze or dive into water adventures. Included in the amenities are kayaks, SUP, catamaran and snorkel gear, just steps from shore where a colorful, tropical aquarium awaits.

The Golf

Robert Trent Jones II created a beauty from start to finish on the Nevis Golf Course. Rising and falling among the foothills of Nevis Peak, cart paths dip into dark rain forests before emerging onto elevated tee boxes overlooking the Caribbean Sea. RTJII dares golfers to cut corners on blind tee shots over and around jungle traps. The flora is magnificent as roaming goats and vervet monkeys provide comic relief. From the first fairway, we saw them scurrying down from the old sugar mill ruins on hole two, somersaulting over one another like a scene from Jumanji.

Hole #17, a 419-yard, par 4, features a downhill blind tee shot and introduces the only unfriendly experience on the island: a concrete flood control ditch shaped like a half-pipe snowboard run. Reachable from the tee, an unsuspecting player wielding a driver might find their ball swallowed by the ditch and sent on a journey to the ocean nearly 800 yards away. This is one of those rare courses you could play day after day without ever tiring of the sights and challenges, epitomizing the peacefulness and beauty of Nevis.

Culinary Scene

The food scene in Nevis is second to none, starting with the four restaurants at Four Seasons Resort. A short walk down the beach leads to a lively mix of off-property eateries including Sunshines, famous for its potent rum punch called Killer Bee. Around the corner, escape the rum jungle at Nevis Peak Brewery.

The Residences

A visit may well entice a move, and Four Seasons Resort Estates has designed a flexible living arrangement for those looking to relocate full time, enjoy part-time living or rent their unit for income. Villas at Pinney's Beach are ready, starting at $3.5 million and new in 2025 is the Nevis Peak Residences, the final and highly anticipated phase of development at Four Seasons Nevis. In partnership with St. Kitts & Nevis Sotheby's International Realty, the experience is seamless, from discovery to move in with no monkeying around.

HERN MICHIGAN

WHERE BOYNE GOLF CONTINUES RAISING THE BAR

By Scott Kramer

On a beautiful early evening in June, I was finessing a pitching wedge downhill into the 9th green on the brand-new par-3 Doon Brae course at The Highlands in Harbor Springs, Mich. Beyond the green and the adjacent freshly renovated lodge, I could see for miles as the sun lowered in the sky. Right then, I thought to myself how this creative layout built into a ski slope truly adds a new dimension to the already full golf experience at mega-popular BOYNE Golf.

You can't visit any top golf resort these days without encountering a short course to complement the full-length tracks. Bandon Dunes, Pinehurst Resort, and Pebble Beach all have one. And now you can add this amazing destination to that list. You can play a round on Doon Brae in about an hour. Experienced players will love it, but it's also a great venue on which to learn the game. Designed by renowned Michigan course architect Ray Hearn, the first seven holes gradually zig-zag up the hill and the last two back down – it was strategically sculpted to be an easy and steady climb. Each green is inspired by a famous golf green around the world. Officials encourage golfers to play their tee shots from anywhere on the tee box they want. That way, smaller children can enjoy the course even more, while low handicaps can make it an extremely challenging experience. Holes can play from 57 yards and up to 150, depending on where you tee it up. The traps are well placed, too. What I love most: To keep the conditioning top-notch, BOYNE officials mow the grass at the same height as the resort's other courses – and ensure it's in amazing condition.

Doon Brae is flanked by the Back Yaird (Scottish spelling for "yard"), a 65,000-square-foot, 27-hole Himalayan-style putting course that also opened in 2025. Inspired by great putting courses like the Himalayas at St. Andrews and Thistle Du at Pinehurst, it features subtle slopes and swales and is a blast to play. It's just off the back patio of the hotel's Slopeside restaurant, where our group ordered dinner and then held a putting contest while we waited to be served. I can truly say that of all the massive putting greens I've played, this is far and away the most fun and fair.

And honestly, I would expect nothing less from BOYNE Golf. This 11-course, four-location golf resort offers every type of golf experience you can imagine. That June week, I also played the outstanding Alpine and Monument mountainside courses at Boyne Mountain, followed by the Links and Quarry nines along Lake Michigan at Bay Harbor Golf Club (coined by many as the "Pebble Beach of the Midwest" because of the breathtaking holes and views) and then The Heather and Ross Memorial courses, as well as Doon Brae – at The Highlands. I've been visiting Northern Michigan to play golf most of my life and feel like BOYNE Golf perpetually offers a collectively amazing golf variety for any visitor. The courses always seem to be in spectacular condition from tee to green, very playable, and with excellent and friendly service all along the way.

Also new for me this year was that a series of famous Donald Ross holes have been updated through the use of amazingly sophisticated technology on the Donald Ross Memorial course, to accurately match the originals in terms of yardage, slopes, and green and bunker size and shaping. The course is billed as a "Greatest Hits" compilation of 18 Ross holes from around the world. These recreations have been getting renovated one at a time since 2020. The latest transformation was the 10th hole – inspired by the 14th at Royal Dornoch Golf Club in Scotland. It's the sixth hole to be upgraded. Officials modified the mounding on each side, added fescue, more than doubled the green size, and lowered it by 4.5 feet for accuracy. It's stunning. I may never get to play the original, but now I feel like I've at least experienced it.

The thing that strikes me most about my trips here over time is that BOYNE Golf officials never stop making improvements – whether it be to the golf, lodging, restaurants, or amenities. They just always seem to raise the bar, which becomes evident every time I visit.

For example, this time I stayed in all-new rooms at both Boyne Mountain and The Highlands. Both suites were super upgraded, well-appointed, and even had in-depth TV channel offerings, in-room Nespresso machines, and amazingly comfortable beds. Not sure if it was the fresh air up in these parts or the bed -- or the combination of both -- but I had some of the best sleep all year during my visit. The Highlands' iconic ivy-covered Main Lodge has undergone the most significant transformation – turning into a high-end boutique hotel. It's reminiscent of an English country estate with Scottish Highlands charm. And at Boyne Mountain, I found Chalet Edelweiss to be a luxury getaway just steps from a year-round ski lift that I used to check out the mountaintop vistas. Just for fun one day, my friend and I rented e-bikes on the property there and rolled some 25 miles around the area on tranquil, tree-lined bike paths. It was such a nice way to see this beautiful part of the country.

I have no idea what they have planned next, but I can make an argument that this is currently one of America's best and biggest golf resorts. The golf courses are perpetually maintained to pristine conditions. The variety of holes is expansive. And the destination is also known as "America's Summer Golf Capital" for its long days and cool summer temperatures. You can easily fit in 36 holes or more daily, playing well into the evening hours.

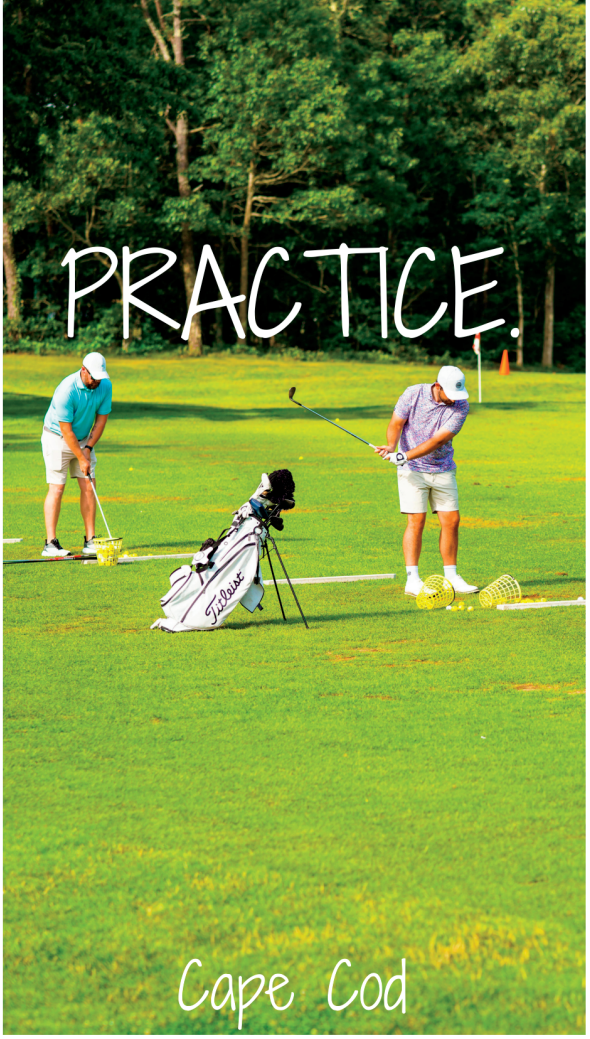

And I'm guessing that was part of Everett Kircher's vision when he founded Boyne Resorts back in 1947 by acquiring 40 acres of land with a modest ski hill for $1. Since then, he and his family have built North America's largest family-owned golf and ski company. In the 1960s, the growing demand for golf warranted a championship layout from a renowned architect, which, at the time, was Robert Trent Jones Sr. So Kircher commissioned Jones to create The Heather course. It opened immediately as one of America's top public golf courses. That helped catapult the resort to its world-class status today. Kircher's son Stephen, an accomplished golfer, is in charge these days and continues to elevate the BOYNE Golf experience further.

But don't delay booking your trip. The word is out since USA Today 10Best named BOYNE Golf the #1 Golf Destination for 2025, aided by The Highlands being ranked the #2 Golf Resort. With air travel being much more accessible now, it's so much easier than ever to get to Boyne, with nonstop flights from 20 U.S cities now offering service to nearby Traverse City's Cherry Capital Airport. There are also short connections through Chicago or Detroit to Pellston Airport in Emmet County, or private service directly into Boyne Mountain's Airport with a 5,200-foot runway that recently underwent a $4 million upgrade. The destination also remains easily accessible by car throughout the Midwest.

SYNTHETIC TURF INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE A GREENER WORLD

Where Quirk Meets Craft

Blind shots, bold greens, and natural contours give The Pines its New England soul — and its unforgettable character.

BY SEAN MELIA

IN 1968, BEN CRENSHAW played the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship at The Country Club in Brookline.

For a kid from Texas, the rolling land, winding fairways, and rock outcroppings charmed and surprised and inspired him.

Fifty-seven years later, Ben Crenshaw and his design partner Bill Coore introduced golfers to their newest design — The Pines Course at The International in Bolton, Massachusetts.

The idea wasn't a renovation or restoration — instead it was a "reimagining."

To design a course from scratch is hard enough, but to try to envision a new golf course while walking on an old golf course takes genius.

In a Fried Egg Golf interview, Bill Coore said, "I think if he (Geoffrey Cornish) were standing here, he would probably say, 'Bill, Ben—this is a nice site. Go see what you can do with it.' I could be wrong, but having been around him a bit, that's my sense."

Sometimes courses can be designed with a blueprint unfurled on a desk from hundreds of miles away. The International was not one of those projects.

"We've had the good fortune of Bill and Ben out here a number of times," said Paul Celano, the Director of Golf. "You listen to him, and his vision is just incredible. I see something new every time he comes out."

While playing the new Pines course, there are moments when the old version of the course appears. An old tee box, an empty bunker, a corridor of trees.

Another thing that Coore and Crenshaw do so well is blend their calling cards — bold greens, shot options, visual tricks, and an easy walk — with the natural surroundings they are given.

In the case of The Pines, large greens call out the old version of the course. However, the slopes and tiers are all C&C.

"As big as some of them (the greens) are, they play smaller just because of where your hole locations are, Celano said. “Some of the greens have little humps in the front that actually make the greens half the size.”

In addition, a massive sand pit was dug up, transforming the middle of the property around hole Nos. 2, 3, and 13.

And then there is the quirk, which C&C wanted to lean into.

As Crenshaw learned in 1968, quirk in New England means blind shots, the chances of bad (or good) bounces, and tricky greens. Watching the ball roll on the ground is a delight, especially around the greens. And with short grass around the putting surfaces, players can roll, bounce, and flop their ball. The options are endless.

One bit of delightful, yet devilish, quirk sits to the right of the 12th green. A small, single mound lingers just off the putting surface. It’s covered in long grass and cannot be seen from certain spots on the fairway. A pin on the right side of that green brings it into play. Some players might have to hit over or around it. Others might have to try to escape it.

With this new Pines course, The International has something that all 36-hole facilities desire — two distinct courses.

From the first tee box on the Oaks and the Pines, the differences are clear.

The Oaks feels like the new-school New England golf. It’s a touch “cleaner” around the edges. Bunkers are more defined and so are the playing corridors. The pop of color is highlighted by greens and whites.

The view from the first tee at The Pines is different. Subtle, rugged land, browns and greens, and waste areas evoke old-school charm. So does the invitation to walk the course. For the first two years, The Pines will be walking or cart path only to allow the new grass to take hold and flourish. The club has also launched a caddie program, which has attracted high school and college students from the area.

Over the coming years, the reimagining of The International isn’t limited to The Pines course.As the only private 36-hole club in Massachusetts, it offers options for whatever a player wants.

A new national membership is also available. With Logan and Manchester airports both about 50 miles from the property, a trip from afar is enticing and rather simple. The club is working on lodging that would encourage members from near and far to stay and play.

With new facilities, a caddie program, and national membership, The International isn’t just unveiling a golf course. It’s repositioning itself as a destination — one rooted in New England charm, but reaching far beyond its borders.

L.A.B. GOLF

Rolling a golf ball into a hole shouldn't be complicated. Yet for golfers around the world, putting is the most challenging part of the game. L.A.B. Golf was created to simplify things. The company believes it's possible for all golfers to be excited about putting.

L.A.B. GOLF
DF3 | $449

L.A.B. took a chisel to their first putter, Direct Force, to make DF3 smaller and sleeker while honoring the shape of the original. It stays square by itself. It's still irrationally forgiving on mishits. But there's a lot less to think about. The DF3 is entirely CNC milled from 6061 aluminum, with 8 screws on the bottom made of steel or tungsten in various densities to precisely target swing weight and lie angle balance each putter.

Tour Edge and Bushnell Debut Precision Gear

Featuring three new driver and fairway metal designs plus a new hybrid, the tour-proven Exotics lineup delivers the ultimate in fitting options and long-game performance.

Tour Edge Golf, a leader in high-performance equipment for nearly 40 years, unveils its most complete Exotics metalwood lineup to date. The series spans drivers and fairways with LS, Max, and Lite models, rounded out by the versatile Max Hybrid, giving golfers unmatched long-game options.

Engineered to deliver distance and forgiveness for every type of golfer, the new drivers and fairways share cutting-edge technologies: lightweight carbon construction, advanced Pyramid Face Technology, and a 360° titanium Ridgeback frame. These innovations maximize speed, stability, and forgiveness across the lineup.

Where they differ is in the details. Each model is tailored with distinct performance characteristics—head shape, adjustability, flight workability, launch, and spin—ensuring golfers of all abilities can dial in their perfect fit.

From precision to power, Tour Edge's new Exotics irons deliver total performance for every player.

Tour Edge has also launched three new iron sets in the Exotics series: two players models and a powerful game-improvement option.

The new Exotics MB and CB irons, designed to be combined, feature common lines and weighting, similar aesthetics, and parallel performance. Forged construction and CNC-milled faces deliver consistency and soft feel, while precision grooves optimize spin and stopping power.

The Exotics Max irons feature game-improvement tech, including a Pyramid Face and 360° undercut design for maximum forgiveness and consistent distance.

All three models incorporate Tour Edge's proprietary VIBRCOR technology, a TPU compound that enhances feel and responsiveness. VIBRCOR dampens vibration, increases ball speed, and boosts perimeter weighting for a softer, more solid strike.

A new design aesthetic ties the lineup together, highlighted by a clean, modern TE logo near the toe. The streamlined look brings a modern edge to the Exotics franchise, appealing to golfers who value style and performance.

The all-new Exotics Series is available for pre-order at authorized Tour Edge golf shops and will be in-store and available for custom fitting soon.

Best New Golf Course in New Hampshire

Owl's Nest Vineyard Course formerly known as White Mountain Country Club, was originally designed by renowned golf course architect, Geoffrey Cornish in 1976. The newly renovated Vineyard Course, now open, has just completed a full course renovation by Robert McNeil with The Northeast Golf Company. With the completion of the project this July, Owl's Nest Resort now offers 36 Holes of premier golf with the famed Nicklaus Design Course and the new Owl's Nest Vineyard Course. The $7 million extensive renovation has made the new course one of New Hampshires finest golf courses.

The 18-hole "Vineyard" course at the Owl's Nest Vineyard Course facility in Ashland, New Hampshire features 6,277 yards from the tips and it's a par 70 layout. The course rating is 69.5 and it has a slope rating of 120. The course plays much like a brand-new golf course after extensive redesign and refitting by the McNeil Group. The strongest feature of the course is the last four holes, closely resembling links courses found in Ireland or Scotland. The majestic course sits alongside the Pemigewasset River (Known as the Pemi River) which originates in Franconia Notch in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.. The New course is said to be one of the "Best New" public golf courses in the state.

The Vineyard & Four Townhomes

The 10-acre vineyard, located off the right side of Hole #3 on the Vineyard Course, is now the largest vineyard in New Hampshire. It will produce 100% organic wines, including the state's first sparkling rosé, by 2026. Owl's Nest Vineyard Course is equipped with 4 condos that can sleep up to 7 people. As of 2023, the condos underwent a full interior renovation, updating everything to a clean and modern look. The Stay & Play packages are thoughtfully designed to suit a variety of guest needs.
